About This Course

This course provides preparation for the Foundation exam of APMG.

Who Should Attend

This course is designed for anyone currently working on Agile-based projects or having experience with other forms of project management experience and want to add Agile PM skills and knowledge to their portfolio.

Anyone with any experience in project-based work, either from the customer or supplier side can benefit from this course, including but not limited to: project manager, team leaders and managers or project employees.

Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, participants will be able to:

AgilePM™ certification is the result of collaboration between APMG-International and the DSDM Consortium. DSDM (Dynamic Systems Development Method) is the longest existing Agile method and the only Agile method aimed at managing Agile projects. It has evolved over the years into a Project Framework, and AgilePM is a subset tailored to the Agile project manager.

Students will be explained how the model is set up, how the different project activities and project roles are connected and how AgilePM handles project management.
